NEW CABINET IN PARIS HAS ALL EUROPE'S CONFIDENCE

Briand Government Gets Cordial Welcome From Allied Powers

VIEWS ARE GIVEN

Solution Of Reparations Problem Now Seen As Probability

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Jan. 18.—The Briand Cabinet has been accorded a sympathetic welcome by the Allied countries, who interpret its advent to power as an earnest of the fulfilment of M. Millerand's adage, viz., solution of the reparations problem by inter-Allied agreement.

In British political circles it is recalled that M. Briand has long ago captivated the esteem and friendship of Mr. Lloyd George—sentiments which were strengthened during the war. The British Prime Minister, it is pointed out, regards M. Briand as a strong partner, who must be reckoned with, and who will know how to defend the French standpoint with vigor at the forthcoming inter-Allied conferences; all of which, it is held, will not prevent Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand, with good will, from easily agreeing upon a definite common, practical policy, such as all the Allies desire.

ITALIAN VIEWS

The Italian press emphasises that M. Briand is a sincere friend of Italy, and forecasts that his Ministry will safeguard the interests of France in a conciliatory spirit.

Similarly, public opinion in Belgium is ready to subscribe in advance to M. Briand's policy, if that policy consists, as everything points to its doing, in taking full account of arrangements already concluded and of results already obtained, and in securing just reparation for the past and necessary guarantees for the future.

GERMAN OPINION

German press opinion is divided regarding the new Briand Cabinet. While the Conservative newspapers declare that "no understanding of Germany's critical political and economic situation" can be expected from the Briand Cabinet, any more than from its predecessors, less uncompromising organs, like the Vossische Zeitung, assert that "neither M. Loucheur nor M. Briand will reject an understanding with Germany; but" they add, "neither of them will insist on seeking it, if one day they find it impossible to attain."

TO STATE POLICY

Paris, Jan. 18.—The Ministerial declaration of policy will probably be delivered on Thursday, by M. Briand in the Chamber, and by M. Bonnevoy, Minister of Justice, in the Senate.

Ten Under-Secretaries have been appointed, including the following: Presidency of the Council, M. Tissier; Interior, M. Colrat; Agriculture and Aviation, M. Laurent Eynac; Liquidation of Stocks, M. Paisant; Posts, Telegraphs and Telephones, M. Paul Lafont; Liberated Territories, M. Ludol; Merchant Marine, M. Rio; Technical and Physical Instruction and Sports, M. Vidal.

M. Dianeiou will be appointed Under-Secretary of State for For-

Children Famine Victims, As Tuchun's Wards, To Be Sent To Four Anhui Cities

Chang Wen-seng Plans To Provide For Youthful Sufferers Until Next Wheat Harvest; Jesuit Describes Conditions

(China Press Correspondence)

Chuchow, January 17.—Anhui Tuchun, Chang Wen-seng, is proposing to take 2,000 famine children, divide them among the four Anhui cities of Chuchow, Fengyang, Hwai-yuen and Nanhsuchow, and have them cared for until the wheat harvest.

The Tuchun is proposing to stand responsible for the funds needed and is asking the above cities to make arrangements for the caring of the children.

At Chuchow representatives from the local Red Cross branch, the Christian Church, the Teachers Association and the Merchants Guild, met to outline plans and have appointed a committee to go to Pengpu and arrange plans with the Tuchun. It is proposed to use certain temple properties for housing the children.

Most of the people in the district of Han Tan, Chihli province are likely to die because of the famine is the prediction made by a Chinese Jesuit priest, Father Simon Li, in a letter received here yesterday. Father Li's district is near Kwangpingfu, a large city, and is in the extreme South of Chihli Province, near Honan.

THE LETTER

His letter follows:

My dear benefactor.—I have just received $120 (Mass offerings) from you; please thank all your American friends for that most helpful donation.

Here, at Han Tan and You Men, I am living among the dying who are constantly uttering heart-rending sobs. On all sides I see but living skeletons, hideous famine-stricken faces and innumerable corpses. This dreadful famine has now reached its climax, and most of the people in my district are likely to die soon.

I have received $2,000 (local currency) from the Peking Famine Relief Committee to support 600 young Catholic and pagan people for eight months, that is, until the next harvest season, but there are still thousands of starving people around me whom I am unable to feed.

From the Tientsin Relief Committee I have also got $720 to put up a temporary shelter for old women and orphan girls; I have 60 of these to feed during at least six months. My limited means enable me to support that small number only, though every day many poor old women beg me to receive them in the shelter. It is a heart-rending task for a Catholic Missionary to be obliged to turn a deaf ear to so many utterly destitute people who entreat me to give them food and clothing! But what can I do with my slender purse?

WIVES ABANDONED

The most pitiable scene is that of many young wives forsaken by their husbands; they wander about in search of food, carrying their babies, and alas! they are in imminent danger to lose their virtue and their souls! If I had sufficient means, I would at once erect a new shelter for them or at least give them special assistance. I shall feel much obliged to you if you can inform some charitable persons of the sad plight of these poor young women, for whom I beg earnestly a substantial alms. Many hearty thanks in anticipation.

Meanwhile pray for my miserable flock and for your humble servant in Christ.

AID FROM TOKIO

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Jan. 18.—The Chinese Famine Relief Commission of the Sino-Japanese Business Association today passed a resolution, deciding to spend Y.300,000, out of the total subscriptions amounting to Y.544,601, in establishing relief buildings in the neighborhood of Peking, Tientsin and Tsinan, each building accommodating 2,000 or 3,000 sufferers, for a period of three months.

A special relief corps will be organised in conjunction with the Red Cross and other bodies.

Mr. Masao Okumura (of Mitsubishi, and Mr. Tetsuo Kudo, secretary of the Business Association) are leaving shortly for Peking, to consult with the Chinese authorities.

Constantine Seeks Allies' Recognition

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Jan. 18.—It is stated in Government circles that a definite decision in regard to the proposed visit of King Constantine to Anatolia will only be taken when the Allies recognise him as King.

Constantinople, Jan. 18.—There is no confirmation obtainable of the Nationalist claims to have defeated the Greeks at Broussa. This is probably based on the Greek withdrawal from the original lines, in accordance with a plan previously notified to the Allies. Nevertheless, Stambul and Angora are both celebrating the "victory."

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Jan. 18.—The Associated Press Constantinople correspondent states that General Wrangel's Cossacks, encamped at Chataldja, mutinied and disarmed their officers.

French Colonial troops turned machine-guns on the mutineers who returned the fire.

Ten Senegalese were killed and 20 wounded, and two French officers were wounded. The French troops surrounded the camp, and the ringleaders of the mutiny have been court-martialled.

London, Jan. 18.—Apprehensions on the part of the Bolshevists in regard to the eastward advance of the Turkish Nationalists appear to be reflected in news from Tiflis to the effect that, owing to an ultimatum by the Armenian Soviet Government to Turkey, the Turks have evacuated Alexandropol.

Reuter learns that the Armenian Soviet, backed by Moscow, is also demanding the immediate evacuation of Kars, and the withdrawal of all Turkish troops to the frontiers fixed in 1914; also full and immediate reparation for the pillage and atrocities committed by Turkish troops during their occupation of Armenian territory.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Jan. 19.—According to a semi-official statement, the Government has protested to the Allied Premiers against the action of the Council of Ambassadors in upholding the Control Commission's refusal to consent to Germany's retention of the majority of her fortresses and naval harbors, which, it is contended, Germany is entitled by the Peace Treaty to retain.

English-Speaking Peoples Must Save World From War

President-Elect Harding, In Letter Written Last Year, Sets Out His Views

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Jan. 18.—In a hitherto unpublished letter, written in September to Mr. Stewart, Chairman of the Sulgrave Institute, President-Elect Harding emphasises the duties of the English-speaking peoples, as the predominating factor in world-wide civilisation.

He expresses the opinion that, when America is summoned to assist in a world-building agreement or an association for the prevention of war, the English-speaking peoples will play no small part in it, not evading the rights or excluding the fellowship of other nations, but protecting and including them.

COMPANY ALLEGES SCHEME TO SEIZE IMPORT BUSINESS

Remarkable Group Of Cases In Mixed Courts Of Both Settlements

CHARGE CONTRACT THEFTS

Wilkins Brothers, Plaintiff, And B. Stransky And Chinese Defendants

That an attempt was made to seize and take possession of a considerable portion of the import business of a Shanghai trading company is the charge advanced in a remarkable group of related cases that have made their appearance in the Mixed Courts of both the French and the International Settlement.

In all of the cases, three in number, Wilkins Brothers, an American corporation, is plaintiff. B. Stransky, formerly manager of the Wilkins Brothers' import department who was arrested recently on a charge of theft, is the principal defendant and associated with him as alleged accomplices are two wealthy Chinese, T. S. King and D. T. Wong, against whom charges were made yesterday. Wilkins Brothers are represented in the litigation by Mr. D'Auxion de Ruffe and Stransky is represented by Mr. J. Em Lemiere.

IS CZECHO-SLOVAK

Stransky was arrested on January 5 on a warrant issued from the International Mixed Court and [illegible] it was ascertained that he is a Czecho-Slovak his case was transferred to the French Mixed Court. According to allegations advanced at preliminary hearings that have been held in the French Mixed Court, Stransky on leaving the employ of Wilkins Brothers and Company several months ago, took with him a large number of contracts for imports of goods together with certain documents and samples.

It was charged that through the financial backing of the two Chinese T. S. King and D. T. Wong, Stransky, after leaving Wilkins Brothers organised the Kings Trading Company, which established offices at 43 Nanking Road. Exhibits are to be introduced to show that fac-simile contract forms like those used by and taken from Wilkins Brothers were brought into use by the Kings Trading Company with the single difference that instead of carrying the signature of Wilkins Brothers, the forms bore the signature of the Kings Trading Company.

OTHER ALLEGATIONS

It is alleged further that representations were made to customers of Wilkins Brothers in Shanghai that Wilking Brothers would not carry out import contracts entered into with European manufactures, but that those would be carried out by the Kings Trading Company.

On the day Stransky was arrested, under authority of a search warrant a search of the offices of the Kings Trading Company was conducted when, it is alleged, about 200 contracts said to have been stolen from Wilkins Brothers, together with a quantity of catalogues and samples,

Warriors' Day Is Plan To Relieve Distress Of Former Service Men

Prince Of Wales Says Cause Of Veterans Is Most Vital Problem Confronting Empire

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 18.—A "Warriors Day" movement—the aim of which is that every house of entertainment in the United Kingdom shall give a matinee on March 31 in aid of Lord Haig's fund for ex-service men—was inaugurated at a meeting today at Drury Lane Theater, over which Sir Arthur Pinero presided.

There were present the Prince of Wales, Lord Beatty, Lord Haig, Air-Marshal Sir Hugh Trenchard, Miss Ellen Terry, Sir John Hare, Sir Squire Bancroft, and other notable persons.

Lord Beatty said they were not asking for charity, but to help the British people to pay their debt to those who had suffered in preserving the Empire.

Lord Haig said the troubles of ex-service men were increasing instead of diminishing. A few weeks ago there were a quarter of a million men for whom no place could be found in the community, and today their number was larger.

The Prince of Wales said that, from his experience while on active service and that of his [illegible] of thousands of miles in visiting other parts of the Empire since the war, he could affirm that the cause of the ex-service man was at present second to none in national importance.

"When the country was at war," he said, "we did not forget men who fought and gained the victory," and he maintained that the freedom of our instinct should not be different now.

Sir Alfred Butt, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Prince of Wales, paid a tribute to his services, and described him, in theatrical parlance, as "the ideal leading man."

British Pioneers Lose Lives In India

London, Jan. 18.—It is officially stated that 60 Mahsuds surprised two companies of Pioneers working on the road near Jandol under the protection of pickets. A hand-to-hand fight ensued, in which the British casualties were seven killed and missing, and 38 wounded.

(Reuter's Service)

Wages Drop As Industry In U.S. Takes New Start

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 19.—The New York correspondent of the Times telegraphs that with two million unemployed in the country, American industry is re-starting work this week on a reduced scale of wages.

The most notable reduction is that of 22½ percent in the textile industries. The public are already benefitting through reduced prices for clothing, boots and bread.

New York, Jan. 19.—A despatch from Pittsburg states that the Pennsylvania Railway proposes to reduce its staff twenty percent unless its employes agree to cease work for one day a week.

London, Jan. 19.—Workers employed in several of the smaller industries have recently accepted reductions in wages or relinquished increases to which they were entitled under agreement, in order to enable business to be carried on.

The Hematite miners of Furness, for example, have agreed to work for wages based on current selling prices instead of the higher prices which ruled in November and December, and it is hoped that this will enable some of the mines to reopen.

It is expected that this question will be discussed at the forthcoming conference of iron and steel employers and workmen in view of the collapse of the iron and steel market. Occupations in which wages are governed by sliding scales will, of course, be automatically affected.

Board of Trade figures show a continued reduction in the cost of living.

Air Traffic From England Increasing

(Reuter's Service)

The departures from and arrivals in London for the former period were each 406, whereas in the latter period they were 338 and 346 respectively.

Since the opening of the first Continental service on August 26, 1919, till the end of 1920, out of 4,153 departures and arrivals, British machines contributed 3321, French 721, Belgian 104 and other nationalities seven.

POINT-BLANK QUERY PUT TO AMERICAN CONSULATE!

Did Germans Grant Privilege To Residents To Preach Faith?

MOTIVE IS SHOWN

Answer Indicated Is That Christianity Was Made Paramount

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Jan. 19.—Rights of American missionaries at Tsingtao to propagate the Christian faith have been brought into question by the Japanese authorities there who have addressed an inquiry to the American consular authorities concerning the nature of guarantees that were given by the Germans when the port was under their control.

If the American consular authorities possess any such guarantee, the wish of the Japanese is expressed to examine the document. The request is taken as an indication of what Japan's policy is to be toward missions, particularly American missions.

Specifically the inquiry of the Japanese asks if the former German leaseholders gave any written guarantees conveying privilege of residence to persons engaged in spreading the Christian faith in the Tsingtao district.

It is probable that the reply of the American consular authorities will call the attention of the Japanese to the general guarantee that was given by the Germans in 1898 carrying assurance that the German lease would not interfere with treaty rights among which the right of spreading Christianity would be paramount.

New Orleans Due In Vladivostok Friday

The U. S. S. New Orleans, with Admiral Albert Gleaves and the Court of Inquiry which is to investigate the killing of Lieutenant W. H. Langdon on January 9 by a Japanese soldier at Vladivostok, is expected to arrive at Vladivostok tomorrow afternoon or early tomorrow evening, according to advices received yesterday.

The U. S. destroyer Elliott, in command of Commander E. L. Gunther, arrived at Shanghai yesterday morning. Admiral Gleaves and members of the Court of Inquiry came on the Elliott from Manila, boarding the New Orleans at sea. The Elliott will probably remain here until the New Orleans returns.

GLEAVES LEAVING

There is a possibility that Admiral Gleaves will not return to Shanghai on the cruiser. He expects to be relieved of his Asiatic command early next month and plans to return to the United States on the Empress of Russia, which sails from Shanghai on February 12. It is expected that the New Orleans will take Admiral Gleaves from Vladivostok to Nagasaki where he will board the Empress.

The New Orleans is to return to Shanghai for repairs.

Rear Admiral Straus has been named as successor to Admiral Gleaves as commander of the United States Asiatic Fleet.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL HELD AT VLADIVOSTOK

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, Jan. 18.—At two o'clock this afternoon impressive religious and military services were held in honor of the late Lieut. Langdon, in the presence of all the military and civil representatives of Russia and foreign Powers. Among those present were General O-i and his staff.

A religious service was held at the Y. M. C. A., close to the Albany, to which warship Lieut. Langdon belonged.

The coffin, covered by a mass of wreaths, was then taken alongside the Albany, and mounted on a gun-carriage. Here a salute was fired, and a large flag was lowered, shutting out the public view.

HITS AT AMERICANS

Tokio, Jan. 18.—The Nichi Nichi comments on the apparent desire of Americans to use the Langdon shooting affair as a means of opening up the entire Siberian question.

That the Japanese have the right to remain at Vladivostok for self-defence has, it says, already been recognised, and to raise the question now might therefore precipitate a serious diplomatic argument, which America should know enough to avoid.

The Reservists' Association at Takamatsu is sending a protest to General O-i against the reported orders that sentries shall not challenge Americans as this is considered derogatory to the spirit of the Japanese army.

INVESTIGATION URGED BY AMERICAN SENATOR

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 18.—Senator Johnson has proposed that the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate shall investigate reports to the effect that Americans are virtually excluded from trade with Siberia, and also that there shall be an inquiry into the activities of the American military in Siberia.

This latter investigation, however, should have no connection with the shooting of Lieut. Langdon.

Senator Johnson declared that he and other Senators were informed that the Japanese were becoming strongly entrenched in Siberian trade, while American interests were suffering.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

With large commotion and much oratory Daung Pok-tung and Kyong Phoo-tsung arrived at Harbin Road police station, burst into the charge room and brought up before the Sergeant in charge.

"I've arrested this man," panted Daung, taking a fresh grip of Kyong's collar.

"You're another!" shrilled Kyong, getting a half-nelson on Daung. "I arrested you."

"Well done in either case, too," sez the Sargint, reaching mechanically for the pen. "Phwat's the char-r-rge?"

"He tried to extort $5 from me," stated Daung, looking as though he expected to see the Sergeant freeze with horror at the dastardliness of the crime.

The Sergeant blotted the line and looked inquiringly at Kyong.

"He stole a pair of gold earrings from a poor, defenseless old woman on the Yalu Road!" declared Kyong, regarding Daung with withering contempt.

"Accused and complainant detained, and vice versa," ruled the Sergeant, and sent out to have the matter investigated.

The findings, as put before the Magistrate and Assessor at the Mixed Court, were to the following effect:

Daung and Kyong were operating a gambling lay-out, technically referred to as the three-card game, in an alleyway off the Yalu Road when an aged lady by the name of Nyung Ling-dz passed by that way. While Daung fluttered the cards alluringly and demonstrated how easy it was to pick the correct pasteboard, Kyong sang a siren song to the venerable dame on the theme of easy wealth. Finally she consented to have a flutter at it.

Somehow, she didn't seem able to nominate the fateful card and shortly found herself owing the game $4. She wanted to quit, but Kyong explained to her that luck usually changed after anyone had lost $4. When her indebtedness reached the $12 mark Mme. Nyung insisted on quitting and confided to the operators of the game that she had no money. So they took away her earrings and decamped. And subsequently fell to wrangling over the proceeds.

"I know nothing of the matter," said Daung, with dignity, to the Court. "I understand the old lady had a gambling dispute with my wife. But, how could I be expected to know anything of that."

"The accusation is a complete surprise to me," said Kyong.

The Police showed that Daung had been in Court previously for gambling and a sentence of two weeks was dished out; but the authorities suspect Kyong of having been invited to stay out of the Settlement, after having served a year in the Municipal jail, and if this is established he will draw a longer term than his partner.

"Aladdin"

Shanghai's theatergoing public once more gave its approval last night to Mr. E. P. Graham Barrow's version of "Aladdin" when it was produced by the players of the A. D. C. at the Lyceum Theater.

As an American, unaccustomed to the rules of pantomime, it is difficult to go into the realms of higher criticism. The only thing possible to remark in all fairness is that the show is truly delightful with the one exception that it is really two productions instead of one. There are two variety features introduced in the bill which are of such merit that they alone would make a show, but, interpolated in "Aladdin" cause the program to drag.

Having seen many well-drilled choruses and having heard the outcome of an effort to create a harmonious whole from a sprightly appearing group of dancers, of whom some could sing, it was a pleasing surprise to be presented with a perfectly co-ordinated group of dancers whose voices were in perfect accord. Mr. Jack Raynes' direction and Mrs. Wingrove's untiring coaching must have brought about this result.

Mr. Graham Barrow's lines are excellent, his detractors to the contrary notwithstanding, the members of the cast are working with enthusiasm and an exceptional display of talent and throughout "Aladdin" can truthfully be called a show worth seeing.

Anyway, it "got a kick" out of the audience and your humble servant, C. E. H.

Podolsky Returning

The pianist Leo Podolsky is shortly to revisit Shanghai. Those who heard him when he was here three years ago will remember his fine playing of modern piano music. Recent programs of his exhibit a catholic taste with a distinctly progressive tinge as witness the Godovsky versions of French classics and Percy Grianger's (of Tchaikovsky). Works of Cyril Scott, Sgambati, Debussy and Scriabin, figure frequently.

Mr. Podolsky has been recently on extended tours with Mme. Vera Mirova, a classical dancer whose proverbial grace has won her the name of "the Russian Isodora Duncan."

Many appreciations of Podolsky and Mirova have reached us and the public is assured of a series of concerts unique in their own line. The pianist's interpretations are kept distinct from Mirova's rhythmic portrayals of popular classics.

Podolsky was highly rated on his appearances in Petrograd, Vienna and other cities and all over Russia, and in the East is known as a pianist of undoubted eminence.

His tour of the Dutch Indies recently was extended from 100 concerts to 162, in which both artists met with immense success.

"If you want to know," said J. J. Hill, "whether you are going to be a success or a failure in life, you can easily find out. The test is simple and infallible. Are you able to save money? If not, drop out. You will lose. You may not think it but you will lose as sure as you live. The seed of success is not in you."

Take your TIME and your DOLLARS seriously! Make the MOST of BOTH! Open that SAVINGS account TODAY! A dollar will start you! Let the habit GROW!

APPEAL TO PUBLIC TO REVEAL CASES OF RICE HOARDING

Municipal Authorities Issue Notice In Effort To Curb Profiteering

A warning against rice profiteering and hoarding and an appeal to the public to report any cases which may come to its knowledge is contained in a notification issued by the Secretary of the Municipal Council appearing in today's Municipal Gazette.

The notification is as follows:

"From investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

"Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

"Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

"The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned."

McClure's Far East Articles Discredited

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 19.—In a letter to the Times Mr. Frederick Coleman says that the facts do not support Mr. Samuel S. McClure's theories regarding the Far East. His work and investigation in Japan, he says, led him to think that world conquest by Japan was so remote a possibility that time would be wasted in planning to thwart it. Western civilisation, he says, is today faced with far greater menaces than any "yellow peril."

SHANGHAI SILK DELEGATES ASK PEKING FOR AID

Ministers Seeking To Devise Method Of Giving Help To Industry

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Jan. 19.—Three delegates representing the Shanghai silk industry are now in Peking endeavoring to secure assistance for the silk trade, which is described as being in a very bad condition. The price of silk is said to be four hundred taels below the cost of production, and exports have diminished ninety percent, while more than a hundred thousand employes have been thrown out of work.

The Ministers of Finance and Commerce have expressed themselves as keenly interested and are endeavoring to devise means of furnishing financial assistance. The former proposes to issue ten-year bonds to the value of three million taels of which two million taels would be used to restore the market and one million for improvement in the silk industry.

Among other schemes, it has been suggested that these bonds be secured by the silk export revenues, but this would require the consent of the foreign interests concerned.

PORTER, PRINCE AND CAMPOS FIRST VICTORS

Billiards Champ Starts Out To Retain Title By Beating Lopes

MORRISS IS BEATEN

Loses To Prince In Loose Game; Gibson Is Defeated By Campos

C. W. Porter, of the Shanghai Club, amateur billiards champion of Shanghai, started out to retain his title last night and was successful.

Porter handily won his match against J. M. C. Lopes, 750-563. And at the American Club Gordon Morriss was defeated by J. M. Prince in a game which took a little over three hours. The score was 750 to 665, Prince getting an early lead and holding it to the end. Morriss was figured as one of the likely contenders for Porter's crown.

The third match of the first round was between Harry Gibson of the American Club and J. P. Campos of the Lusitano Club. The game, which was played at the Shanghai Club, was won by Campos. The score: 750 to 547.

MORRISS DROP SURPRISE

The defeat of Morriss was a proper surprise. He has been making high breaks and playing consistently excellent billiards since his return from England and only a few days ago registered a break of 145. Last night he was completely off his game. He missed easy shots, was nervous, and ostensibly had too wide an angle on his ball.

While Morriss was being eliminated Porter was displaying the form that won him his title. He had his game well in hand at all stages and his victory last night presages another championship. Remedios, and Bush or da Silva—the two last-named are opponents in the next round—are possible contenders.

LOPES SHOWS FLASHES

Lopes had flashes of fine playing but invariably had bad luck on easy shots when he seemed to be off for a run. There were a number of innings where the total neared the fifty mark for each of the players, but 48 was Lopes high figure, while Porter twice crossed the line toward the century. He had runs of 53 and 61.

And Prince may figure. He played mediocre billiards last night—showing only flashes of brilliant playing. He had a wild-eyed start, scoring 150 to Morriss' 37 and retained the advantage. Breaks of 33, 41, 32 and 62 were made by Prince, the 62 break being marked by several really brilliant shots. He was death on long in-offs and made much of Morriss' nervousness and failure to make easy shots although palpably nervous himself. Prince had an average of 7.5.

Morriss' showing was a disappointment. He made breaks of 41, 45, 52 and 57 and was much better in the last 200 points than earlier in the game. Morriss made several difficult shots with comparative ease but lacked consistency. His average was 6.6.

CAMPOS WINNER

At the Shanghai Club Campos was not used to the fast table and Gibson was clear off his form. Harry has played many better games. Last night he was often halted by trying to play position after starting off on what looked like a big break. Campos scored most of his runs by slow scoring.

Campos made breaks of 27, 37, 32, 25, 28, 20 and 41, the high run of the evening. Gibson scored breaks of 23, 22, 26 and 35.

Campos next meets Porter. Prince is to play the winner of the match between G. M. P. Remedios and E. F. Fasting. Fasting is in Wusih and must return to play the match before Saturday.

The second round must be played by January 29.

SEVEN BALL CLUBS ELECT TEXAS FOR TRAINING SEASON

Four National League And Three American Teams Choose Lone Star State

Texas is running far ahead of all other States in the choice of training camps for major league clubs. It already is assured that five teams will do their Spring conditioning in the Lone Star State, the quintet consisting of the Giants, Reds, Cardinals, White Sox and Indians. Tris Speaker has not officially named the city where his world's champions will train, but he has declared that he will take his players to Texas, and it seems to be assured that Dallas will be the address of the champions next March. Two other clubs—the Browns and Tigers—are expected to work out in Texas.

Louisiana is next in line with three clubs—the Yankees, Robins and Mackmen. The Brooklyn camp is yet to be selected, but it probably will be at New Orleans, where the Indians have trained for many years. Arkansas will entertain the Red Sox and Pirates, both clubs having arranged quarters at Hot Springs. The Phillies are going to Florida, and it is expected that Clark Griffith will take his Senators back to Tampa. Georgia, which has welcomed many a major league club in recent years, will have only one team this year, the Boston Braves. The Chicago Cubs will make their usual jaunt to California.

Following is the list of clubs with the cities selected for training:

THIRTEEN RIDERS SPILLED IN FIFTH TIENTSIN HUNT; FEENEY AND HURST WIN PRIZES

But Six Of 19 Starters Finish Sunday 'Unt; Way, Riley, Mackay And Holliday Badly Hurt; Commons Lays Paper On Eight-Mile Course

Nineteen riders started and six only finished in the fifth paper hunt at Tientsin last Sunday. The hunt was won by Mr. S. Feeney on The Presbyterian, late Mount Adam.

Never in the history of hunting in Tientsin has there been a hunt so full of thrills and accidents. Two thirds of the field came off and the plain behind the Racecourse for the time being was strewn with riderless horses and horseless riders.

The disasters commenced with the first of a string of big jumps near the Big Village immediately south of the race course. Three came down at the first, two at the second, and one at each of the next three. Four more came down a subsequent jumps well out in the country and the unlucky thirteenth fell at the last jump twenty yards from the flags.

SERIOUS SPILLS

Among the more serious spills were Mr. C. W. L. Way and Mr. E. R. Riley, the former getting a badly wrenched shoulder and the latter a bruised hip; Mackay, whose pony rolled on him, and Holiday.

Others to hit the hard dusty earth were Messrs. Todd, Wasser, Briault, Shirrell, Joe Swan, Arden, who recovered and finished strongly, and Tisman. A search party went out to gather up the remains but they returned later to find the missing ones safely arrived.

SIX STAYED ON

Why there were so many tosses is unexplainable for the jumps were only average and not nearly as difficult as some in former hunts. Three weeks absence from the saddle might possibly account for a few of them but that 13 out of 19 should come down defies a logical explanation, except that certain New Year resolutions have not been faithfully kept.

COMMONS SAYS PAPER

The course of about eight miles was laid by Acting Master Commons from the usual start behind the Detring Villa, running south past the Big Village over the railroad, east over the long plain, north over the line near the small village, back along the near side of the railroad and north to the flags, finishing with a 2½ mile straightaway. Time 45 minutes.

FEENEY WINNER

Prizes were presented to Mr. Feeney for lightweight and to Mr. Hurst, for heavyweight, by Mrs. Arden, wife of Major Arden of the 55th Cokes Rifles. The large number of assembled spectators joined in toasting her with the usual honors.

The six first and only riders past flags were:

Mr. S. Feeney on The Presbyterian.
Mr. Keith Watson on Sand Dune.
Mr. L. C. Hurst on Night Out.
Mr. Jorg on Doremi.
Mr. Benbow Rowe on Chaos.
Mr. D. W. Smith on Sherman.

THE CASE OF MRS. STELLA SHAW

"My sallow, wax-like complexion has become clear and bright," states Mrs. Stella Shaw, of No 808 Columbia street, Hudson, N. Y., U. S. A. who had suffered for years from anaemia until she found the right tonic.

"I hadn't been well for six years," she says, "following an attack of jaundice. I was tired and without ambition all the time. Whenever I would lie down I had severe dizzy spells and seemed to fill up and choke. My appetite was poor and I had pains across my shoulders.

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills several years ago and and when I saw them mentioned in a newspaper I procured some and began treatment with them. My condition improved so much after the first bottle that I continued taking the pills until I had regained my strength. I no longer become exhausted easily and have plenty of ambition for my work. My appetite is excellent and the pain across my shoulders has gone. I not only feel like myself again but my color no longer causes people to think I am seriously ill."

Anaemia is another name for thin blood. If unchecked it becomes worse and may end in consumption. But it can be combated by the use of the famous Blood-tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. As the blood becomes rich and red under this treatment the symptoms disappear. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are to be had of all chemists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, one bottle for $1.50, six bottles $8.00, post free. Write for the free booklet, "Building up the Blood."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which is poisonous, doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given your physician know of what to your children unless you or it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
T. DAVIS, M. D.,
Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D.,
Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."

Peking News Notes

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Jan. 15.—General Chang Hwai-chih is reported to have tentatively resigned his post as head of the College of Generals. The members of its staff, who are largely retired Tuchuns, have been without their salaries of $1,000 per month for many months. Recently an appropriation was decreed by the Ministry of Finance of $100,000 toward salaries, but none of this sum is said to have reached its designated destination. General Chang's resignation will likely be followed by that of other generals of the staff, who find this their only means of protest against non-payment of their stipends.

One of the most important dinners ever arranged by the American Association of North China was held in the Wagon Lits Hotel last night. The dinner, which was for gentlemen only, was attended by an exceptionally large representation of the American Community in Peking, both members and non-members, and several persons from Tientsin.

Mr. Frederick W. Stevens, resident representative of the American Group of the Consortium, and Major-General Crozier, retired Chief of Ordnance, U. S. A., were the honor guests, and delivered impromptu addresses from their particular viewpoints regarding the prosperity of American interests in China.

The dinner was followed by the annual business meeting, at which reports for the past year were read and the election of officers for the coming term was held.

Mr. J. P. Kendricks, Agent-General of the Peking Syndicate, will leave Peking today for leave in England.

Mr. Patrick Gallagher, editor of the Far Eastern Review, Shanghai, and Mrs. Gallagher, who have been visiting for some days in the Capital, are returning to Shanghai Sunday. Mr. Gallagher, who is the author of several books, is gathering material for another book.

Mr. Witter Bynner, the American poet who is translating the verse of the Tang Dynasty, has returned to Peking from a trip to Shanghai. He will address the Wen Yu Hwei tonight on his favorite subject.

Many reports have recently been published to the effect that the abolishment of the Military Pact is about to become an accomplished fact. An official of the Foreign Office states that it is not true that Japan has made any recent advance in that direction, and the matter, as far as China is officially concerned, is still where it was when the Japanese government declared itself in favor of the cancellation several weeks ago.

The emissary sent by the recently removed Tuchun of Kansu, Chang Kwang-chien, to interview the Talai Lama of Lassa has returned from Tibet to Kanchowfu, and many reports are being sent out of his success in arranging for the settlement of questions between Tibet and China and amicable relations between the two nations. It is not believed, however, in foreign circles which have kept a close eye on the situation, that the mission accomplished anything, and the reports being sent out are regarded as a belated attempt by the removed Tuchun to gain some posthumous merit as a statesman. The British Legation disavows any intention of renewing negotiations with Peking on the Tibetan question at present. Great Britain's only interest, it is stated, is in the protection of the peace of the Indian frontier, and the British government is not, as the Chinese generally regard, the champion of Tibet in quarrels which do not involve the border territory.

The government is reported to have received the terms of General Chao Hung-ti of Hunan for allegiance to Peking, and is a little disappointed that the Hunan chieftan, whom it has supported (morally) with such vigor demands to be bought on such excessive terms. He asks; according to report, one million dollars immediately for reconstruction of the war-torn province. In addition he desires a half-million monthly budget to support his army, and wishes sanction to form two more mixed brigades. The Cabinet is said to have considered the matter, and counterbargained with an offer of half a million for reconstruction and one hundred thousand monthly.

The draft agreement recently concluded between the Kailan Mining Administration and the two Chinese mining companies, the Pao Hsin Company (of Anhui) and the Lung Yen Company (of Chihli) for the establishment of an iron foundry at Chinwangtao, has been duly O. K.'d by and registered with the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce. The agreement provides that the K. M. A. shall contribute coal, while the Chinese companies, which are mining iron, shall contribute ore, to the project.

The Chinese commercial men who are promoting the Hulutao port project are endeavoring to contrive means for floating the project independently of government financial aid. The original plan for the port called for a budget of eight million dollars, half of which was to be put up by the Chinese shareholders and half by the government. The Chinese merchants claim to have prepared their half, but the Ministries of Communications and Finance have no way to provide the government's four million dollars aside from the flotation of a loan, which seems to be out of the question at the moment.

Large Chinese commercial interests in Manchuria are very impatient at the delay in the execution of the project. The port, which is to be constructed on an ideal natural harbor in the extreme north-western corner of the gulf of Chihli, is designed to be the outlet and inlet for the trade of all Manchuria south of Mukden, which is to be diverted from the South Manchurian Railway and Dairen route. It will be ice-free, and, it is claimed, in no way inferior to Dairen. The Ministry of Communications is largely interested because of the greatly increased traffic it will throw to the Peking-Mukden railway, which runs past the site only a few miles inland and will be connected with a branch line in place of the toy railway now running. Minister of Communications Yeh Kung-chow recently paid a visit to the site, and has ordered the Director-General of the project to submit his estimates for investigation.

Because of the menace of the project to both the Mukden-Dairen branch of the South Manchurian Railway and the port of Dairen, upon which the Japanese have spent immense sums, the Japanese are determined either to squelch the project or obtain control of it. A recent proposal, it will be remembered, was made by a Japanese official to government organs interested in the project that, as to the construction of the breakwater and the docking facilities, whatever bids were offered by firms of other nationalities, Japanese firms would undertake to build for twenty percent less.

NOTICE

During the absence on leave of Mr. Philip. H. Cole, Engineer-in-Chief and General Manager, Mr. C. W. Porter is in charge of the Company's business as Secretary and Acting-General-Manager.

By order of the Board of Directors,

The National Loan of the Third Year of the Republic of China (1914) $16,000,000 and Supplementary Issue of $8,000,000
and
The National Loan of the Fourth Year of the Republic of China (1915) $24,000,000

On the 6th June, 1917, the undersigned notified subscribers to the above two loans that in pursuance of arrangements made with the Chinese Government, the loan service as regards interest payments would in future be adequately secured.

In regard to the redemption of the loans it was impossible at the time to make any announcement. The Moratorium of 1916 affected the Loan Service, and, although drawings have been proceeded with as funds permitted, Redemption has been irregular and behind the scheduled dates.

Arrangements have now been made which will enable annual drawings of each loan to be undertaken until their extinction, in 1924 in the case of the 4th Year Loan and 1925 in the case of the 3rd Year Loan.

The Ministry of Finance will notify in due course the date of the drawings to take place this year with date and place of repayment.

FINAL ANNOUNCEMENT of the
Tsin Dah (晉大莊)
and
Wei Dah (會大莊) Banks

The above-mentioned banks have duly paid all accounts due by them by allotment and instalment. Several creditors, however, who should have claimed have not done so. We advertised in the fourth, eighth and ninth moons, in the Shun Pao, Sin Wan Pao, North China Daily News and in this paper, inviting the creditors to draw payment not later than the end of the ninth moon, otherwise they would lose their power to claim, and the funds would be turned over for benevolent purposes. Our liquidating office has been established for years, and, as the end of the Chinese year is approaching, we have abolished it without further waiting, and the funds unclaimed by the creditors have been donated to benevolent causes in accordance with our previous meeting, in order that the matter may be concluded finally. All notes and pass books remaining in the possession of Chinese or foreigners, are hereby declared to be null and void, and the public is hereby requested to note this final declaration.

FOR SALE
A Coromandel Screen

There is at present in Shanghai a wonderful Coromandel screen, of which there is not a match either in New York, London or Paris, and which is a unique specimen.

The screen was given by Emperor Kanghi to a Viceroy, at the end of the seventeenth century and has, since then, been kept preciously by the descendants. On a ground of dark brown lacquer there is an exquisite display of flowers, birds of paradise and peacocks in beautiful old colors and gold. This kind of decoration is very rare and much sought after by foreign collectors. The screen is 11 feet high and about 24 feet in width; it has twelve folds and is in perfect condition. It will be shortly sent to Europe, but can be seen here by prospective buyers only and by applying for appointment to Box 438, THE CHINA PRESS.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday, January 19.

Exchange:—The London price of silver at 39¾d. is ¼d. higher than last week but the quotation has been as high as 40¾d. during the week. There has been nearly little business doing in exchange during the week. In view of the absence of cover in the shape of export paper, and the increasing stock of silver in Shanghai our market shows a weak tendency. T.T. on London at 3s. 10½d. is ½d. higher than last week, but 1½d. down on the highest point touched during the week. The market closed steady. Arrivals of silver due during this month are estimated at well over Tls.

The British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, January 12.

FINANCE & MONEY MARKET

There has been very little business either in bills or remittance. Taels T.T. on Shanghai, Chinese market, were fairly steady around 97.25—97.35. Foreign banks being well supplied with funds were unwilling sellers @ 97¾. Dollars improved slightly from 69.05 to 69.175 buyers and sellers respectively. Native interest rose from 6% to 8%.

EXPORTS

There were a few local purchases of seeds made during the week, otherwise little doing. The outstanding feature has been the reduction by 25% of freight rates to the United Kingdom and the continent.

IMPORTS

There is no change in the market, and nothing doing. No clearances.

Business Situation In South China

Writing on the business situation in the Hongkong Telegraph, Mercator says: There is a better feeling in the markets at present, and it is generally felt that the worst has happened. The Chinese, it is reported, will stand by the side of their fellow merchants and save their faces during the acid test of the Chinese New Year, although that does not mean that there will be no failures before the Chinese festive season.

There may be a few, but these are not expected to be numerous or serious. The year just closed has been the most trying one for merchants in the Colony for it has proved almost disastrous to some of our old established firms. The losses suffered have been very heavy.

Had the reserves in some cases not been large and the banks not stood by the side of the big houses trade in the Colony might have received a blow from which it would have taken many years to recover. Mercator then expresses the opinion that in the future trade will run on healthier lines.

There was a better demand at this week's auction than has been experienced for a long time, probably in consequence of better reports from London. Prices, however, show hardly any improvement on the week.

Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold up to 30½ cents, 30 cents being the average price.

There were a few lots of Standard 1st Latex Crepe catalogued, and only one lot changed hands at 30 cents.

Off Quality Sheet and Off Colour Latex were wanted at prices slightly below last week's.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes met with good competition, and realised on an average about 2 cents more than last sale.

Gen. Feng's Plan

GEN. Feng Yu-hsiang, of Honan Province, whom our Peking correspondent refers to as an "enlightened militarist," has submitted a memorandum to the President of China in which he advocates the employment of the Chinese army in constructive public works. In pursuance of this scheme he asks permission to direct his soldiers to undertake the construction of the Yenchow-Chowkaotien railway, a feeder line for the Kin-Han in southern Honan.

The message adds that if the government sees fit to allow him thus to utilise his troops, in establishing this example and precedent, Gen. Feng would appreciate the despatch of competent engineers to direct them in the work.

Another despatch brings the news that Gen. Lu Yung-hsiang, tuchun of Chekiang has telegraphed the Government stating that he heartily endorses the policy of the Central Government in reducing the military expenses of the provinces, but there is a little difficulty in connexion with the reduction of troops in his province, otherwise the orders would have been complied with long ago. Those who have spent their best years in military service, he says, should be provided with work in order to earn their living. Therefore he has decided that unless means be devised to enable them to obtain proper employment he will not proceed to reduce the troops under his command.

Gen. Lu, it will be remembered, was the first Tuchun to come out squarely for the abolition of the tuchunate and the reduction of the army. He now feels that he was rather hasty in his advocacy of such radical measures and flatly declines to obey the government's orders. Gen. Lu is an Anfuite and when Chang Tso-lin, Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu were polishing off that club at the head of which stood Marshal Tuan and Little Hsu, Gen. Lu thought to go to their rescue. He was stopped however by the late Li Shun, who was then Tuchun of Kiangsu, and who shortly thereafter was found dead in bed—dead from a bullet wound said to have been self-inflicted.

Gen. Lu now says that it would not be fair to the men who have spent their lives in the Chinese army, suddenly to turn them out without means of livelihood. It is true that these men have not spent their lives fighting for China. They have spent them for some part looting and pillaging other Chinese and burning Chinese cities, and for the rest have lived their lives at the expense of China, giving nothing in return, doing no work as work is reckoned in China, and offering no recognisable defense against foreign invasion, which is the ostensible object of the Chinese, as well as all other armies, and which as a matter of fact, is their only excuse for existence.

Gen. Feng of Honan however comes to the rescue of General Lu of Chekiang. He proposes to use his army to build railroads, canals, embankments to control floods and to perform other work of a constructive character, all of which China vitally requires and which she cannot have if she continues to maintain her large and idle army, dangerous only to the peace and prosperity of China.

And let it not be thought that Gen. Feng's plan is unpractical or dreamy. Writers and statesmen all over the world have at various times urged that armies be used for constructive work in times of peace. If they can dig trenches and build railways in time of war, when under fire and facing the enemy, why not in time of peace, when no enemy is in sight.

Besides Gen. Feng has already put his plan to the test for he has been using his troops in building roads, in weaving and, we believe, in other useful avocations. As a result of his experiments he now recommends that they be used in building a railroad and he wants competent engineers to direct them.

Here then is a solution of the problem with which Gen. Lu finds himself confronted. All the other tuchuns, we assume, find themselves in predicaments similar to Gen. Lu's, and Gen. Feng's solution fits them all. But China's problem is greater than that of any of her tuchuns. Her vast armies North and South have drained her treasury to the last dregs and have provided nothing in the way either of defense or of constructive development. As we have pointed out, they constitute only menaces to the peace and prosperity of the people of China.

Let these armies be put to work holding the rivers in check, digging canals and building railroads and before we know it we shall have a new China. Certainly China needs these things more urgently than she needs an army. This way she would have both. And if she permits the army to go on as it is, she will wake up at no late date to the unpleasant knowledge that she has nothing.

Bugs Baer Says

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN.

When the world was still a fresh egg, Cleo and Helen of Troy had the first national release complexions of their time. Since then every woman thinks that she is entitled to the sauce made from the golden apple.

Just when the world war seemed healed, two foreigners step over here and start picking out the most beautiful Americanette. Which is another argument against indiscriminate immigration.

Hoppe thinks a society woman is the Queen of the Lip Stick. Helleu picks out a movie donna. Hoppe is English. Helleu is French.

The first question we ask an extinguished foreigner is what he thinks of our American women. To think of beautiful women is no indication that you are thinking. That requires no thought.

A handsome man can be cured by time, but a woman is a woman all her life. No beautiful woman ever loses her beauty. Sometimes she mislays it or the drug store is closed.

Beauty is not only pharmaceutical. If Aguinaldo visited these taxed provinces he would pick out the woman with the most beautiful black teeth as our fairest princess.

The Duke of Samoa would think that the heaviest tatooed flapper was entitled to the verdict handed down by twelve good Samoans and true.

A Zulu merchant prince measures beauty by tonnage. Many a Zulu chieftain has croaked of a broken heart when his sweety lost her appetite and only ate two small missionaries on toast. Fat is beauty in Turkey, long toe nails top the list in China, and in Persia they think the Eighteenth Amendment means soap.

A Zombogian thinks that a flat nose is the fairest flower that grows, big ears are prized in New Gumbo, while in Eskimoland a woman's beauty is in ratio to her old man's property. If her old man has an ugly bank account she is beautiful.

Although we don't admit it down here, the Eskimo system has been adopted without reservations. Did you ever see a newspaper portrait of a wealthy society flapper? Most of 'em have faces that would make a Swiss clock die of an ingrown cuckoo. But the dope underneath the picture always states that she is beautiful, charming and can speak eight Scranton languages.

Showing that the most beautiful woman in America is the lady on the silver dollar.

Some weeks ago I devoted this column to a book entitled "London Through Chinese Eyes" by Dr. M. T. Z. Tyau, in which the author gave his impressions of the great English Metropolis. Since then another book of impressions—not new by the way—has fallen into my hands which deals with "America" through the spectacles of an Oriental diplomat—no less a man than Dr. Wu Ting-fang. Chapter after chapter is delightful. He doesn't only tell us just what Americans do, but he tells them what they ought to do. He is even venturesome enough to devote a whole chapter upon that fascinating subject "Woman," and it is to this that I shall devote my attention.

A PROMISE FULFILLED

"It is rather bold on my part to take up this subject. It is a path where fools rush in where angels fear to tread. No matter what I may say it is sure to provoke criticism, but having already been asked by my lady friends to give an opinion of American women, and having given my solemn promise that if ever I should write my impressions of America I would do so it would be a serious breach of promise if I should now break my word."

THREE CLASSES OF WOMEN

"In general there are three classes of women: first, those who wish to be praised; secondly, those who wish to be adversely criticised and condemned; and thirdly, those who are simply curious to hear what other people think about them.

"American women, as a rule, do not belong to the first or second class, but a large majority may be ranged under class three. They wish to hear what other people think about them, and to hear their candid views. They are progressive people, who desire to improve their defects whenever they are pointed out to them. That being the case I must not swerve from my duty of sitting in a high court of justice to pass judgment upon them." (Careful Doctor.)

WHY, AND WHO, AMERICAN GIRLS MARRY

"I have observed that many American women marry foreigners, but that an American man rarely has a foreign wife. It may be said that foreigners marry American girls for their money, while American women marry distinguished foreigners for their titles. This may have been true in some cases, but other causes than such sordid motives must be looked for. It is the attractiveness and beauty of the American girls which enable them to capture so many foreign husbands. Their pleasant manners and winsome nature predisposes persons in their favor, and with their well-grounded education and ready fund of knowledge, they easily win any gentleman with marital propensities.

"Had I been single when I first visited America I too might have been a victim—no wonder then that American men prefer American wives."

The Doctor deplores the fact that the young people of America choose their own mates and openly express the view that parents have nothing to do with it. He tells how things are better done in China thus:

"Here the parties most interested have no choice in the matter, their parents, through their friends, or sometimes through the professional match-makers, arrange the marriage, but only after the most strict and diligent inquiries as to character, position, suitability of temper and disposition of the persons for whom the marriage contract is being prepared.

"This is sometimes done with the knowledge of the interested parties, but very often they are not consulted. . . . After an engagement is made it cannot be broken off, not even by the young people themselves, even though he or she plead that the arrangement was made without his or her knowledge or consent. The engagement is considered by both parties as a solemn compact. . . . Divorces in China are extremely rare. This is accounted for by the fact that through the wise control of their parents the children are properly mated."

THE NATION AND WOMEN

"A nation's reputation depends upon the general character of its women, for they form at least half, if not more of the population.

"In this respect America stands high, for the American woman is lively, open hearted and ingenuous; she is also fearless, independent, and is almost without restraint. She is easily accessible to high or low, and friendly to all, but woe to the man who should misunderstand the pure and high character of an American girl, and attempt to take liberties with her.

"A bird which has been confined in a cage for a long time, will, when the door is open, fly far away and perhaps never return, but if it has been tamed and allowed to go in and out of its cage as it pleases it will not go far but will always come back in the evening.

"When my countrywomen are allowed more freedom they will not abuse it, but it will take some time to educate them up to the American standards."

League Of Nations Becoming An International Soviet

Absence Of The United States Permits Small Nations To Take Power From Britain And France

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS

In examining the progress of the first session of the League of Nations at Geneva it is essential for all Americans to recognise at the outset that there is a profound difference between the real and the apparent issues there joined. It was the failure to recognise this fact that led first to the deception and then to disillusionment of the United States in the case of the Paris conference. At the very least we should not permit ourselves to be taken in as we were two years ago.

And when I speak of the difference between real and apparent issues it is perhaps worth while to illustrate by example. At Paris late in 1919 a bitter discussion was joined as to the new frontiers of Greece in Europe. Should the Hellenic States have all of Thrace or only a protion? Should Bulgaria preserve a facade upon the Aegean? Ostensibly the issue was one of clear principles and the United States emphatically supported the Bulgarian contention, while Britain and France backed Greece. But these European Powers were checked by the interesting fact that Italy supported the United States' view, accepting Mr. Wilson's ideas of self-determination and economic independence.

ITALY'S CHANGE OF FRONT

One day, however, without warning, Italy suddenly changed sides and with no further delay Greece obtained the right to occupy Thrace. America was left like Casabianca on the "burning deck." Upon investigation the American representatives discovered that Italy had never been at any time opposed to Greek possession of Thrace or interested in Mr. Wilson's doctrine of self-determination, but that in a dispute between Greece and Italy over divisions of territories in Asia Minor, Italy had bluntly told Greece that the price of Thracian gains was Asiatic sacrifices and, after delay, Greece had concluded to pay. Thus, in fact, American insistence upon the doctrine of self-determination had resulted in a successful "hold up" of Greece in Asia Minor.

Now at Geneva, as at Paris, there was precisely the same effort to use high moral principles to promote quite material practical bargains. In the first place the whole session was dominated by the break between France and Great Britain, a break which is expressed in a total difference of opinion and of selfish national interest in almost every part of the world. For example: France backs the Poles because she sees in Poland a useful ally against Germany. Britain opposes Poland because the British have obtained economic supremacy in the Baltic States, notably in Lithuania, and sees in Polish expansion a menace to this supremacy.

The British back the Greeks in the near East because Britain sees in Greece an agent for her own plans in the old Turkish Empire. France backs the Turk because the French see a better chance for their own interests if the Turkish Empire is restored than if Greece, as a British agent, acquires vast territories.

But the great Franco-British quarrels arise out of conflicting policies with respect of Russia and of Germany. France wants to fortify Poland and insure that Russia will repay the old loans of the French, amounting to several billions. Trade with Russia is not important from the French point of view. But Britain wants to trade with Russia at once for the profit there is in it and cares neither for French billions nor Polish security. Both national policies are camouflaged by very lofty principles, but both policies necessarily rest upon very well defined national interests.

As to Germany, Britain has acquired by the Treaty of Versailles the maximum of profit possible from the war and the victory. Germany has lost her colonies, her merchant marine, her navy. She is no longer a rival or a menace, but she remains a possible market, and Britain wants that market and the German customer. But France has not eliminated a military rival, acquired security nor as yet realised any material benefit from the promised reparations. She opposes German admission into world trade, into the League of Nations, into world relations, pending proof that Germany has laid aside aggressive ambitions and is prepared to pay the indemnities.

It follows, then, that at Geneva and everywhere else France and Great Britain oppose each other. In the Paris conference British diplomacy, infinitely more adroit than French, succeeded in enlisting the United States against France and thus compelling France to bow to British will. But when President Wilson went home and the Senate rejected the Treaty of Versailles France resumed her freedom and has successfully resisted the British effort to impose British will upon her ever since. Geneva was only one more battlefield.

Now the actual struggle between France and Britain at Geneva centerd about the Near Eastern situation. Britain was eager to maintain the arrangement created by the Treaty of Sevres and by other and more or less secret bargains, because the profit was with her. France was eager to upset the arrangement because it represented in French eyes a British control of the whole of the eastern Mediterranean. But the French line of attack was through the Armenian question and was, on the surface, an appeal to the humanity of the world. But for America herself neither the French nor the British were prepared to act, to send armies, to incur expenses. Both were willing to permit the United States to undertake the task, both were agreed to pass the American question up to the United States, laying stress upon the moral questions involved, but underneath the surface France and Britain were concerned, not because of Armenian extermination but because of the clash of two colonial policies in Asia Minor.

MORE IMPORTANT ANGLE

So much for the Anglo-French phase of the Geneva proceedings. But this phase promptly lost its importance in the presence of a far more serious circumstance, namely, the revolt of the smaller States against the domination and tyranny of the larger. At Paris the fight of the small States against the large was a conspicuous circumstance, but the small States were powerless. Wilson, Lloyd George and Orlando, acting together, again and again crushed the hopes, denied the claims, offended the sensibilities of the little nations, several of which left the conference.

In the constitution of the League of Nations the domination of the great Powers was maintained through the council. Of nine nations therein represented five were to be great Powers, Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States. Three, Britain, the United States and France, could control, and a single negative blocked effective action. Moreover, in the Paris conception the main purpose of the council was to enforce the settlement made in the various treaties.

But at Geneva more than forty nations were represented in the assembly, as contrasted with the council. Many of these nations had not been belligerents. Only France and Great Britain were at all concerned in the preservation of all the fruits of the victory over Germany. The absence of the United States fatally weakened the prestige of the council, while both Japan and Italy, resentful of their treatment by the British, French and Americans at Paris, were quite prepared to throw their lot in with the assembly.

MIGHT BE CALLED BATTLE

The dominating detail at the Geneva conference, then, was this revolt of the assembly against the council, a revolt that one may not inaptly describe as the battle between the Soviet and the Senate.

The assembly desired the admission of the Germans and all the other enemy States to the League of Nations, the destruction of the control of the league by the great Powers, and particularly by France and Great Britain. They were not in the least interested in preserving for Britain and France, the sole beneficiaries with Poland under the Treaty of Versailles, the gains of the war. They were out to take the control of the league away from the great Powers, to scrap the whole Paris settlement so far as it was unattractive to them, and they had both the opportunity and, thanks to an astute German maneuver promptly acquired the issue.

This issue was the mandatory system. Under the covenant of the League of Nations, German colonies and Turkish territories were distributed among certain nations, not as actual possessions, but as trusted estates under the supervision of the League of Nations, and in the league the title was vested. This system was a clever device of British diplomacy to get around Mr. Wilson's "point" about the German colonies.

Mr. Wilson had withdrawn his "freedom of the seas point," but he could not yield on this, while the British, under pressure from their own dominions, were compelled to keep possession of the German colonies.

GERMANY STARTS TROUBLE

Germany, biding her time, suddenly threw a bomb into the Geneva conference by protesting against the fashion in which the mandatory system and been worked. In point of fact only two great Powers had received important mandates, France and Britain, and Britain and Japan had acquired the mandate for a few Pacific islands, Belgium for certain restricted African lands. But in reality no nations represented at Geneva save only Great Britain and France were vitally concerned in the mandate affair, and Great Britain and France represented precisely the dominating influence in the council which had aroused the assembly.

Thus automatically Germany set the Geneva conference by the ears and called into debate the whole settlement of Paris. What the Assembly attempted to do was to establish the control of the League of Nations over German colonies taken by Britain and France from Germany and Turkey and thus to make these colonies in reality the possessions of the League of Nations rather than of the mandatory nations. What Germany sought to do was to open a possible avenue to regain her lost colonies by upsetting the Paris division between France and Great Britain.

But it must be manifest that this maneuver has very far reaching possibilities. Not only are the German colonies subject to the League of Nations but so are the Sarre Basin and Danzig. If Great Britain is vitally affected by the colonial phase of the mandatory issue, France is not less directly affected in the case of the Sarre, and because of her Polish policy almost equally concerned as to Danzig. Yet only France and Britain are virtually affected as to the two questions and all the other nations are free to act as they choose without injury to themselves.

DISARMAMENT NOT POSSIBLE

Patently, then, the first session of the League of Nations has led almost automatically to the challenging of the Paris settlement. It has done this by challenging with equal promptitude the whole conception of the League of Nations in the minds of its authors, the British and the Americans. This conception was that the League should be dominated through the council by the Americans and the British, with the assistance of the French. The failure of America to ratify the Treaty of Versailles, the break between the British and the French, these two facts so shattered the whole structure that its very existence was threatened at the first international session.

Now it is easy to perceive the extension of the present battle. To take another question already raised: The small Powers are vitally interested in forcing immediate disarmament. They have suffered terribly, particularly the neutral Powers, because of the burdens of defence. Their position becomes safe in proportion as the great Powers disarm. But how can the French disarm in the presence of the German situation with no indemnity paid and the present coal contributions assured only by the threat of occupation of the Ruhr? How can the British disarm in the presence of trouble in India, in Mesopotamia, in Ireland?

The question goes even more deeply. What the assembly is up to on the question of armament is not hard to perceive. Naval even more than military disarmament is sought or will be sought. And at the appropriate moment German impulsion will raise the old issue of the "freedom of the seas." The neutrals who suffered from the allied blockades during the war are most eager to avoid all repetition. Germany, having no navy, will use every possible method of weakening the British grip upon the oceans. Only Britain, the United States and Japan have real navies now. All the rest of the world is, then, interested in reducing the advantage of these Powers.

In reality the lesson of the first Geneva conference is inescapable. Here the League of Nations has almost instantly escaped the control of those who were responsible for its creation and reckoned upon it as the permanent foundation of their own policy and security. Rejected by the United States, deprived of the tremendous influence of American support, this Anglo-French institution, in which French participation was forced, has become a menace for Britain and France and an instrument in German hands. The assembly, composed of a majority of nations having no material interest in preserving the settlement of Versailles, or, indeed, any one of the treaties of Paris, is seeking to upset the control of the victorious nations and to challenge their victory.

In raising the issue of the mandates, under German inspiration, the assembly has attacked the very heart of the British portion

CHINESE COMPLAIN OF JAVA GOVERNMENT

The Chinese Government has received a telegram from the Chinese merchants at Soerabaya setting forth the tyranny of the Dutch Government, which has recently levied a duty of 25 percent on all goods exported and imported by Chinese merchants, who are also obliged to pay all kinds of heavy taxes, making it impossible for the millions of Chinese to remain in the Dutch colonies there.

They would be glad to quit Soerabaya, but they are unable to dispose of their properties as they have been settled there for generations. They request the Central Government to lodge a protest with the Netherland Legation in Peking.—Yi Shih-pao.

Y.20,000 PRIZE FLIGHT FROM TOKIO TO AOMORI

According to the Japanese papers, the Imperial Flying Association will hold a flight between Tokio and Aomori during June of this year. A prize of Yen 20,000 will be given to the successful flyer. It is expected that the best known of civilian flyers will participate in the flight.

After the Tokio-Aomori flight, the Imperial Flying Association will arrange for a flight across the Korean Channel. This event is expected to take place sometime next autumn.

A director of the Flying Association, quoted in the Japanese papers, says: "Our association will devote itself to the diffusion of knowledge of flying by organising flights this year. In the flights planned by our association the co-operation of the flying bureau of the War Office will be obtained, while as many civilian flyers as possible will be induced to take part."

League Of Nations Becoming An International Soviet

of the Paris settlement. It has involved not alone the United Kingdom but the dominions, Australia, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa particularly. In pressing the issue of disarmament it has opened up the old German challenge over the "freedom of the seas." In calling up Armenia, under French suggestion, it has brought into question the whole British conception of a Near Eastern settlement. In reality it has attacked Great Britain in three vital points, and its attack is obviously only an opening maneuver, the beginning of a campaign.

At the same time France has been attacked, through British inspiration, in the Polish-Lithuanian dispute, while disarmament carries for France on land the same perils that it carries for Britain on the seas. To disarm France and Great Britain now, this would be for the smaller nations of the assembly a shining triumph, since it would reduce Franco-British strength and influence. Finally, in raising the mandate issue, France is assailed at Danzig and in the Safre Basin.

SMALL NATIONS PLAN COUP

In reality it seems to me that the outstanding fact at Geneva is that France and Britain have lost control of the League of Nations. Technically, they are able, by reason of their veto power in the council, to prevent disturbing action, but to exercise this right of veto in the secret councils of the smaller body is only to accentuate the passion of the larger assembly and lead to hostilities which must either wreck or revolutionise the League of Nations.

To say the thing simply: the Geneva conference discloses the purpose of the smaller Powers to take the control of world affairs out of the hands of the great Powers and make the League of Nations a real World Parliament—a veritable superstate. In doing this the smaller States are not in the least interested in preserving the fruits of the recent victory over Germany; they are not on the whole as hostile to Germany as to France and Britain, and they are quite capable of making an ally of Germany in the fighting which is just beginning.

Moreover, assuming that Germany will presently be admitted to the league, and this is inevitable, the small States will find in Germany a ready and powerful ally in all their assaults upon Anglo-French control of the league. Disarmed herself under the Treaty of Versailles, Germany is bound to advocate the crippling of the French army and of the British fleet to display new enthusiasm to her old advocacy of the "freedom of the seas." In all of this she will be supported by Austria, by Bulgaria, by Hungary, her old partners in war, her present companions in adversity. As for Japan, and Italy, neither has any real interest in supporting France or Britain, given the attitude of France and Britain toward them at Versailles and since.

All of which leads up to the single question: What would the United States do in that galley, assuming that we entered? Should we stand with the French and the British against the rest of Europe, perhaps of the world, in preserving the council and thus fortifying the grip of the British and the French upon world power and enabling them to retain the gains of their victory dearly purchased on the battlefield? Or should we join the small States and Germany in upsetting Britain and France, wiping out the results of the recent victory and transforming the League of Nations into a real superstate dominated by majority rule and thus by minor States?

At all events we must perceive the actual as contrasted with the apparent at Geneva. Anglo-French policy seeks to preserve the League of Nations as a machine for executing the terms of the recent victory and preserving the gains therein registered. But Anglo-French solidarity is shaken by the fatal breach between the two partner Powers. With few exceptions all the rest of the world desires to turn the league into a real superstate, in which economic resources are pooled, in which all the advantages of the strong are neutralised, in which control over armies, fleets, colonies, raw materials are vested in the league itself and not in the nations now possessing them.

CONFERENCE TO TAKE LEAD

If this means anything it means Sovietising international affairs. It means Bolshevising world relations. It is the longest step toward Lenin that has ever been considered by the western world. It is a war upon international capital, by which I mean nations rich in territories and strong in weapons to defend them.

At the Paris conference the whole world situation was in the hands of three men representing the three great States of Britain, France and the United States. At Geneva the most striking single detail is the effort to eliminate this control, now resting in Anglo-French hands, and turn it over to an assembly in which more than forty nations are represented and in which the sheer majority arises inevitably from the weakest, smallest and in some cases the least progressive countries of the planet.

In such an assembly, the United States would always be outvoted by the representatives of the States of Central America and of the north of South America, the British Empire might find its fate in the decisions of the new and old States of middle Europe and of the Balkans. South America might demand the elimination of our fleet at the same moment Europe, under German leading, made the same demand of the British Empire. In a word it seems to me that the outstanding circumstance at Geneva is the development of an international communism, political, not economic, primarily, which may prove one of the most amazing facts in contemporary history.

DECLARES SOVIET SYSTEM WORSE THAN TSARISM

American Communist Reaches Germany After Many Persecutions

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Jan. 17.—A well-known American communist, named Schwartz, of San Francisco, who has for 20 years preached communist doctrines, went to Russia with his wife to study the conditions there, and has now returned alone, his wife having died.

He scathingly denounces the Soviet, and declares it is a worse autocracy than Tsarism. The Soviet, he says, tolerates imprisonment, persecution and executions without trial, and has brought Russia to starvation, disease and death.

He and his wife were thrown into prison in August, 1920, because they declined to express approval of the revealed conditions. They were released in December, after his wife had gone on a hunger-strike, and written letters to Lenin and Trotsky, telling them that she preferred death to further hardships.

Before their imprisonment, the couple, who were fluent in the Russian tongue, toured through 14 Governments, and never spoke to a single person, except officials, who had a good word to say for the Soviet system.

Mrs. Schwartz was placed in solitary confinement for two months. After her hunger-strike had lasted five days, both of them were released and ordered to clear out. They refused to do so until their own money, amounting to £1,000, with their baggage, had been returned to them. Thereupon they were flung into prison again.

Eventually the couple were sent to Reval penniless, and there the wife died. Mr. Schwartz was going to lecture on Bolshevism at Reval, and the Bolshevik Minister, hearing of this, gave him £500 to leave the city.

SHORTER HOURS & OUTPUT

English Find Production Has Increased In Some Factories

The annual report of the Chief Inspector of Factories and Workshops of the British Government, just issued, discloses the fact that along with the general adoption, without legislative compulsion, of the reduced forty-eight-hour week, which was accomplished in most British industries during the war period, there has been a coincident decline in the rate of production. The experiences of different trades vary considerably. The average total number of hours of labor per week throughout the industries of the country as a whole amounts now to forty-seven or forty-eight, in fact, in some factories it has been reduced to forty-four hours or less. This weekly working time is variously distributed according to the local practice, usually determined by a majority of the workers themselves, through the five-day week, with no work on Saturdays; the single break day, with only one stop for meals; the double-break day, with two meal times, or the shift system, with its various modifications.

While it is difficult to make accurate comparisons for the purpose of finding out the result of the shortening of hours of labor, owing to a variety of other changes in working conditions, such as those affecting the supply of labor or of raw materials, or processes of manufacture, still it is found that in cases where the production depends principally on the speed of machinery, as in cotton or woolen spinning, the output is said to be reduced in almost corresponding proportion to the reduction in hours. In other machine operations which call for the constant alertness of the operator, as in weaving, output has not suffered to this extent, and in exceptional cases not at all.

In another kind of process, where output is chiefly dependent upon the exertion of the worker, there is frequently no loss of production, and in the case of one wholesale tailoring establishment it is reported that an increase of 40 percent in production was effected, partly due to reorganisation. Further, it is said that in a boot factory where the hours of work were reduced from fifty-two to forty-eight a week there was a considerable increase in output. On the other hand, it is said that a few reports indicate that the shortening of hours has actually been accompanied by a reduction in the hourly rate of production, for which no adequate explanation is offered.
